Lokayukta probe into MUDA 50:50 site allotment scam

CM's wife avoids media for 'secretive' questioning?

Notice to CM likely after Deepavali

Mysuru, Oct. 26 (BLU&BCT)- In a surprising twist to the ongoing Lokayukta investigation into the 50:50 site allotment by MUDA, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah's wife, B.M. Parvathi, appeared at the Mysuru Lokayukta Office for the first time yesterday for questioning. However, it was an appearance so discreet that not a single media outlet captured her visit. Despite her high-profile status, Parvathi has remained entirely out of the public eye until now.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

GIVE SIS A MISS: Thirty-five years is many years but perhaps not a long time in politics. That's how long Priyanka Gandhi Vadra (PGV) said she's been campaigning, since age 17. With bruising defeats and rare wins under her belt as poll in-charge in a couple of States, PGV joins the electoral contest via the LS bypoll in Wayanad as a seasoned politician. From her very first campaign step, Priyanka has enjoyed a people-connect that Rahul could establish only after walking 4,000-km and some. But can PGV expect an easy win? No. Wayanad is no cakewalk even if Rahul won by over 3.6 lakh votes.

Tough test: For starters, Wayanad is the only seat where even Congress' national allies Left Front are rivals. Hers will be the Congress campaign most dissected. Regardless of her popularity, a Constituency devastated by a natural disaster demands hard politics. Allegations of graft in relief work chased local government. But talking graft will surely rake up allegations against her spouse — her very own baggage. PGV may find her years of campaigning melt away as she runs her own campaign, knowing she'll have to bring in her own brand of politics to really burnish her credentials.

Bhai why: Rahul, who was at Priyanka's side in Wayanad, could barely hold back his excitement — very one-for-the-album, very desi-brotherly and very odd too — because PGV's future in electoral politics depends on her not being surrounded by bhai vibes. So, Rahul's comment that electing her will ensure Wayanad gets two MPs, "one official, one unofficial," may have been meant to communicate sister-bro commitment to Wayanad but could be construed as her being the 'proxy' for Rahul. Teamwork is good, shadow MP, not so much. PGV's ability to step away from the forever-campaigning sibling role will decide her career in electoral politics. All eyes on Wayanad.—In The Times of India

Man forgets the last 39 years of his life

Milan: An Italian man has been struggling to adjust to daily life following a hit-and-run accident in 2019 that put him in a coma and ultimately erased 39 years worth of memories, including his own family.

After waking up from a coma, Luciano d'Adamo was convinced he was 24 years old and waiting to be married to his 19-year-old fiance; he didn't recognise the old woman claiming to be his wife, the 30-something man calling him 'dad', or the old man staring back at him from the mirror.

The woman calling herself his wife was 58, but he only remembered his 19-year-old fiancee. They turned out to be the same person, only 39 years apart and that was something Luciano couldn't comprehend. Where had the years gone, why was he a grey-haired man and what had happened to all his memories?

World's smallest excavator fits in the palm

New York: The Nano Tracks N320 is a miniature remote-controlled excavator that, although only 1/64 the size of the real thing, is not a toy, but a fully-functional excavator.

This excavator might be tiny, but it features 6 fully independent, proportional motors, giving precise control over every movement, as well as an electronic slip ring, independently controlled boom, dipper, bucket, swing and individual tracks.

One may not be able to fit in its cabin to operate it, but the Nano Tracks N320 features RC controls with the available modes. One offers the industry standard ISO controls (Caterpillar controls), while the second allows you to control the tracks independently, just like a real excavator. The Nano Tracks N320 prototype took around 2,300 hours of hard work to complete, but Abbott and his team now have a repeatable procedure that they can use to bring the world's smallest functional excavator to the masses.

Urgent action needed on street drainage leak

Sir,

I am writing to bring to your attention a critical issue regarding a drainage leak on 1st Cross, Umar Khayam Road, near the landmark: Deaf and Dumb School, Tilak Nagar.

The drainage system on this street has been leaking for the past many days, resulting in flooding, road damage and potential hazards for both pedestrians and vehicles.

The standing water and excess moisture not only pose immediate safety risks but also threaten long-term damage to the infrastructure. With rains, this situation is likely to worsen, leading to further issues such as erosion, property damage, and public health concerns.

As a concerned resident, I kindly request that your team assess and address the situation as soon as possible. I trust the Mysuru City Corporation will handle this matter promptly to prevent further inconvenience and potential harm.

Additionally, I would like to highlight the absence of garbage containers on each street, which makes waste disposal difficult for residents.

Be 'Baby-worthy' Nation First!

Last week the Chief Ministers of Andhra Pradesh and Tamil Nadu urged youngsters in their respective States to have more children. One said, have more than two, the other said have 16!

But why? Vote bank.

The remarks came after reports that the BJP-led Central government was planning to redraw Lok Sabha Constituencies based on population which may see Southern States lose some seats and Northern States gain.

This basis of redrawing of Constituencies based on population is not viable. It will lead to a power shift which is not healthy for our democracy. The matrix for redrawing Constituencies has to be more complex than just population criteria.

That said, the Southern States should force the Centre to take a different approach rather than calling for a 'baby boom' and incentivising it.

Andhra Pradesh CM N. Chandrababu Naidu announced, "We will bring in a new law to make only those with more than two children eligible to contest for elections."

Wouldn't it make more sense to entice them with jobs and housing instead? Don't couples with kids need this more than eligibility to contest elections?

Meanwhile, Tamil Nadu CM M.K. Stalin said, "Today, as there is a scenario of decreasing Lok Sabha Constituencies, it raises the question: Why shouldn't we aim for 16 children?"

Let's, hope the Karnataka Government, which is on an incentive-giving spree does not announce a 'Koosu Bhagya' – a scheme where the Government will pay couples to have children.

But here's the real question: While politicians want more babies, is India equipped to feed, educate and employ an expanding population?

The last thing India needs is more disillusioned, jobless youth. As anyone with a basic grasp of economics could tell you, a booming birth rate without the resources to support it spells social instability.

Today, as technology takes away jobs, our Governments should be incentivising job-creation rather than life-creation. As resources dwindle, it should plan a sustainable nation before incentivising procreation.

Some political and social analysts mourn the declining fertility rates around the world, but no one expected India to join that list. Why are so many educated young Indian couples choosing not to have children? And why are fertility rates in urban India dropping?

The answer isn't complex: Raising children in India can be a high-stress endeavour.

India may have fast cars, gleaming buildings, grand airports, long modern bridges and rockets in space, but the country's social infrastructure is a different story.

Young professionals weigh the stress of raising a family in a system rife with corruption, bureaucracy and pollution. Why would a young man or a woman complicate his or her life by having a child in such an ecosystem?

If our politicians want youngsters to have children, they must first create a nation where when a young couple's child is born, their first act should NOT be paying a bribe to get the child's birth certificate.

Create a nation where a teenager's first interaction with their Government is NOT paying a bribe for their driver's licence.

Create a nation where the Police evoke a sense of safety rather than fear. Today, in India law-abiding citizens fear the Police while criminals don't, when it should be the other way around!

Create a nation where a court of justice is seen as a place that delivers timely justice rather than what it is today, a place that is used to delay justice.

Create a nation where the quality of public health and public transport is decent enough that everyone can avail of it, unlike today where it's tolerated only by those unable to afford private options.

Modern Indian cities are plagued by pollution — in the air, water and food. They're chaotic, costly, and frankly, unlivable for many. No wonder fertility rates in urban areas are dropping.

The spawning of IVF clinics in urban India is proof of this.

This backdrop of urban stress echoes the sentiment expressed by Financial Times journalist Edward Luce, who observed that India suffers from a "premature spirit of triumphalism."

This belief — that India's sheer size and economic strength are enough to propel it into global prominence — overlooks a more important measure of success: Quality of life.

Yes, surpassing Japan's economy is an achievement, but with only a tenth of India's population, Japan boasts virtually zero poverty. The comparison is stark.

So, before urging young Indians to make babies, politicians must first make India a baby-worthy nation.

MUDA 50:50 site allotment scam

Lokayukta Police question CM's wife Parvathi for three hours

Mysuru, Oct. 26 (BLU&BCT)- Mysuru Lokayukta Police yesterday questioned Chief Minister Siddaramaiah's wife, B.M. Parvathi, in connection with the Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) site allotment case.

"Parvathi was summoned and questioning lasted over three hours," confirmed Lokayukta Superintendent of Police T.J. Udesh.

The Lokayukta Police had issued a notice requiring Parvathi to appear for questioning. She arrived at the Lokayukta Office on Dewan's Road around 10 am and remained until approximately 1 pm. Sources report that Parvathi provided all requested documents, answered each question, and fully cooperated with the inquiry while officials recorded her statement.

Question of legal ownership

The case involves allegations that 14 compensatory sites in the upmarket Vijayanagar Third and Fourth Stages were allocated to Parvathi under a 50:50 ratio scheme. These sites, valued significantly higher, were reportedly provided in exchange for 3.16 acres of land in Kesare village that MUDA acquired without following due land acquisition procedures.

The controversial scheme allows MUDA to allot 50 percent of developed land to landowners in return for their undeveloped land used for residential layouts. Complainant Snehamayi Krishna alleges that Parvathi lacked legal ownership of the 3.16 acres of land at survey number 464 in Kesare.

Following a Sept. 25 order from the Special Court for Elected Representatives in Bengaluru, the Lokayukta Police registered an FIR on Sept. 27 against Siddaramaiah (Accused-1), his wife Parvathi (A-2), brother-in-law B.M. Mallikarjunaswamy (A-3) and J. Devaraju (A-4) — from whom Mallikarjunaswamy purchased land later gifted to Parvathi.

Land conversion row

According to the complaint, Devaraju sold the land to Mallikarjunaswamy on Aug. 25, 2004, after which it was converted from agricultural to non-agricultural use. On Oct. 6, 2010, Mallikarjunaswamy gifted this land to his sister, Parvathi. Beginning in 2014, Parvathi submitted multiple representations to MUDA, requesting compensation for the acquired land. On Dec. 12, 2021, then MUDA Commissioner Dr. D.B. Natesh allotted her 14 compensatory sites in a developed area under a 50:50 ratio scheme. Following the ensuing political controversy and Enforcement Directorate involvement, Parvathi returned all the sites to MUDA on Oct. 1. The Additional District Registrar's Office processed and officially returned the sites to MUDA on Oct. 3.

Six questioned so far

In this ongoing case, the Lokayukta Police have so far questioned Parvathi, Mallikarjunaswamy, and Devaraju. Parvathi's questioning occurred after the questioning of former Additional Deputy Commissioner of Mysuru S. Palaiah, who served as Headquarters' Assistant under then-Deputy Commissioner G. Kumar Naik in 2005, the current Raichur Congress MP Kumar Naik also appeared before the Lokayukta Police recently.

CM's wife avoids media for 'secretive' questioning?

Based on credible information that former MUDA Commissioners Dr. D.B. Natesh and G.T. Dinesh Kumar would appear for questioning, a large media contingent had gathered outside the Lokayukta Office from early morning. Photographers and reporters camped out, hoping to capture the officials' arrivals. Yet, by midday, both ex-Commissioners were still a no-show.

Meanwhile, Parvathi arrived at 10 am and quietly departed after a three-hour session around 1 pm. It was only later, through trusted sources and a confirmation from Lokayukta SP T.J. Udesh, that reporters learned of her presence. This unanticipated visit went undetected even though media representatives had been stationed outside the office all morning — a significant oversight.

Sources have informed Star of Mysore that during her questioning, Parvathi clarified that she had applied a whitener on lines in her letter submitted to MUDA concerning the allotment of compensatory sites. She stated that there was an error in the letter and that she used the whitener to correct it. However, Parvathi further admitted that she could not recall the specific mistake that made her apply the whitener.

In earlier questioning sessions, high-profile figures like J. Devaraju (land owner), B.M. Mallikarjunaswamy (Parvathi's brother) and Congress MP Kumar Naik (former Mysuru DC), also summoned for questioning, were easily spotted and photographed by waiting reporters.

Yet Parvathi, not breaking her public silence on one of the State's most controversial cases, managed to evade the media's lens altogether — a move that has sparked fresh intrigue around the MUDA scam.

Notice to CM after Deepavali

Meanwhile, sources indicate that Lokayukta officials are preparing to issue summons to the first accused in the case, CM Siddaramaiah.

The officers are currently verifying the statements provided by Siddaramaiah's wife, Parvathi, who is the second accused in the matter. Once the procedural work is complete, a notice will be issued to CM Siddaramaiah to appear before the Lokayukta.

CM Siddaramaiah is expected to be questioned after Deepavali. The Special Court for MLAs/MPs has directed the Lokayukta to submit a report by Dec. 24.

The law applies equally to all

In any case, if a suspect (or accused) receives a notice from the investigating officer, they must appear before them. The status or position of the accused, however high they might be, is not considered. If the accused is in severe ill-health and unable to attend the Police Station for questioning, they must submit a medical certificate. Similarly, if the accused is elderly and unable to move, only then are investigating officers allowed by law to go to their location for questioning and record their statements. Today, it was surprising to see on visual media that CM Siddaramaiah's wife, Parvathi, appeared for questioning at the Mysuru Lokayukta Office. However, no visuals of Parvathi's presence were shown by the media, which also surprised me. — B.B. Ashok Kumar, Retired ACP

ED issues notice to RTI activist Gangaraju, seven MUDA officials

Mysuru, Oct. 26 (RK,BLU& BCT)- The Enforcement Directorate (ED) has issued a notice to RTI activist Gangaraju, asking him to appear for questioning regarding the MUDA site allotment scam involving Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and his family.

The ED had already questioned RTI activist Snehamayi Krishna, the complainant in the case, and has now summoned another RTI activist Gangaraju.

Gangaraju alleged that Siddaramaiah's wife purchased a parcel of land on KRS Road (property number 65/C) from A.S. Ganesh Dixit, located at Survey No. 454 for Rs. 1.85 crore. According to Gangaraju, Parvathi had got 2,023.42 square metres of land registered in her name at the Mysuru North Sub-Registrar's Office on Sept. 29, 2023.

However, 835.5 square metres of this land were part of a road and contained a pipeline, as per the MUDA plan dated Nov. 29, 2019. Upon realising the issue, Parvathi had the records rectified and re-registered 1,187.92 square metres of land (from the original 2,023.42 square metres) on Aug. 31, 2024, excluding the road and pipeline area.

Following Gangaraju's RTI application, amendments to the land records were made on August 30 and 31, 2024, reducing the registered land to exclude MUDA properties.

Gangaraju has submitted a complaint with supporting documents to Governor Thaawarchand Gehlot via email. He also made accusations, supported by documents, regarding the MUDA scandal.

Following this, ED officials have instructed him to appear for questioning on Oct. 22, along with relevant documents and personal information. However, as the notice reached him late, Gangaraju informed the ED officials that he would appear for questioning on Oct. 26 (today).

Notices to MUDA officials

Meanwhile, the ED has issued notices to officials of MUDA. Notices were served on Special Land Acquisition Officer Shruthi, Special Tahsildar Rajasekhar, in-charge of the record room Ravi, former Commissioner's PA Prashanth, stenographer Chandru, and engineers R. Srinivas and Rajasekhar, instructing them to appear for questioning.

During the recent raid on the MUDA office, the ED questioned R. Srinivas and Rajasekhar regarding the Kesare land. While ED officials obtained their statements, they insisted on collecting their phone numbers and Aadhaar cards, emphasising that they must appear for further questioning if needed.

KPA hosts interaction with Bavarian Police officials

Mysuru, Oct. 26 (BCT)- A two-day seminar was held at the Karnataka Police Academy (KPA), chaired by Alok Kumar, Additional Director General of Police (Training), alongside senior Police officials from Bavaria, Germany.

This event underscored the strengthening of ties between the Karnataka government and Germany, initiated by an agreement in 2016 aimed at enhancing cooperation in the training sector. The collaboration focuses on the exchange of information, skill development, and professionalism among law enforcement agencies.

With Bavaria boasting an estimated population of 70 million and recognised for having one of the best Police systems in Europe, the seminar was pivotal in discussing effective scenario-based training for police officers.

Key topics included legal and public order issues, crime detection and control, crimes against women and children, traffic management and strategies for detecting and preventing cybercrime according to scenario-based learning.

Andrian Deitel, the Training Head of Bavaria, actively engaged with the heads of all Karnataka Police training schools.

The seminar also welcomed officials from the Hans Seidel Foundation, which facilitates coordination between Bavaria and Karnataka, including Judith Weinberger and Dr. Arul.

Other notable attendees included the DIGP Southern Range Dr. M.B. Boralingaiah, and Director of KPA S.L. Chennabasavanna. Additionally, principals from 11 Police Training Schools (PTS) across the State and assistant directors from KPA participated, highlighting the commitment to enhancing law enforcement training in Karnataka.

Promote lesser-known tourist spots to realise benefits: DC

'Connect-2024' stakeholder meet for travel, tourism, hospitality sectors held in city

Mysuru, Oct. 26 (PM&BCT)- Mysuru Deputy Commissioner G. Lakshmikanth Reddy has underlined the need for proactive measures to build a favourable environment for Karnataka's tourism growth, starting with promoting scenic yet lesser-known tourist spots across the State.

He was speaking at 'Connect-2024,' a tourism, travel and hospitality stakeholder meet for Mysuru, Chamarajanagar and Mandya jointly organised by Karnataka State Tourism Department and Karnataka Tourism Society (KTS) at Hotel Southern Star in city on Thursday.

The DC highlighted the vast tourism potential Karnataka offers. However, many attractions still need to be discovered by visitors, necessitating concerted efforts to spotlight these hidden gems for the public and tourists alike.

Expressing concern over Karnataka's slower tourism growth compared to States like Kerala and Rajasthan, Reddy noted that tourism development has lagged despite Karnataka's wealth of attractions.

He underscored that coordinated efforts between the government and sectoral stakeholders are crucial to achieving sustainable success. KTS, he said, exemplifies the power of collaborative action to benefit the Government and stakeholders in various sectors, including hotels, travel agencies, and even small street vendors.

'Connect-2024' is an annual event designed to engage all tourism stakeholders in Karnataka, providing a platform to showcase the activities of the Department of Tourism and KTS. Key objectives include gathering tourism promotion suggestions, addressing stakeholder needs to position Karnataka as India's top tourist destination.

It aims to explore solutions for tourism challenges, fostering responsible tourism practices that respect and involve local communities, and raising awareness about Department of Tourism initiatives. Additionally, 'Connect' aims to encourage maximum stakeholder enrolment in KTS, strengthening it as a unified tourism body.

KITE Expo on cards

K. Shyamaraju, President of Federation of Hotel and Restaurant Associations of India (FHRAI) and KTS highlighted the Karnataka International Travel Expo (KITE).

Drawing from Kerala's experience, where a KITE event drew 3,000 participants with hotel owners offering 30 percent of their rooms free to attendees, he acknowledged that while free accommodations might be challenging in Bengaluru or Mysuru, significant discounts are feasible.

He assured that local hotel owners would be encouraged to adopt a similar approach for Karnataka's upcoming KITE event, with the Government's full support. A successful, larger-scale KITE in Karnataka, he noted, could create a more robust and favourable atmosphere for tourism growth, enhancing Karnataka's competitive edge in the sector.

Currently, preparations are underway for the second edition of the KITE while Kerala has already hosted 12 editions over the past 24 years.

Karnataka's journey only began four years ago, and one of the major challenges is the high GST. Soon, a delegation will meet Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman to request a reduction in GST rates.

Shyamaraju was felicitated by the Mysuru Hotel Owners' Association. Following the ceremony, an interaction was held with stakeholders. Among the attendees were President of the Bengaluru Hotel Owners' Association P.C. Rao, KTS Secretary S. Mahalingaiah, Treasurer G.K. Shetty, Mysuru Travel Association President B.S. Prashanth, Mysuru Hotel Owners' Association President C. Narayanagowda and MCCI President K.B. Lingaraju.

Air pollution at alarming level in Mysuru

Switch over to public transport, appeals environmentalist U.N. Ravikumar

Mysuru, Oct. 26 (MTY&BS)- In a timely appeal, environmentalist Prof. U.N. Ravikumar has suggested for switching over to public transport from personal vehicles in the interest of posterity, considering the unabated air pollution in the district.

He was speaking after inaugurating a meeting on 'Participation of the Government and Public in the Conservation of Environment of Mysuru' organised jointly by Rural Literacy and Health Programme (RLHP) and Karnataka State Youth Network at the Institution of Engineers India (IEI) hall on J.L.B Road in the city on Thursday.

Ravikumar said, the environment earlier was serene with the city replete with hundreds of lakes and tanks making it a beautiful place. As the city gradually witnessed development activities, the number of lakes and tanks have dwindled. Two months ago, there was a warning bell on rising air pollution and the people should take it seriously, he said.

The residents of Delhi are suffocating due to air pollution, with the people falling sick. In this wake, people should take a step towards checking the pollution and should support the initiatives taken up by the Government.

Of late, there is an increase in vehicle density in the city, with every household owning not less than two to three vehicles. The people tend to use vehicles exceeding the requirement, that calls for opting to public transport, at least to reduce the amount of carbon dioxide that is emitted from the vehicles, from getting mixed with the environment. If the Government issues curbs on vehicles, it may help in chalking out stringent norms towards protecting the environment, observed Ravikumar.

He advised the people to use bicycle more, with Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) creating a Cycle Track for the purpose. However, the tracks are left unused, with the people showing disinterest towards pedalling bicycles. The people should encourage their wards to use bicycles, which helps in maintaining a good health. We should take a cue from western countries, where bicycles are among the preferred mode of transport largely in the interest of environment.

Director of RLHP Saraswathi said, having a strong concern towards environment, the youths across the State are being organised to create awareness among them about livelihood responsibilities, issues, solutions and related activities. In a country that is largely dependent on agriculture, 40% of farmers, mainly youngsters have diverted towards other avenues. Some of the programmes being implemented by the Government are fatal to environment, she rued.

Progressive thinker Prof. Kalachannegowda presided over the programme. Assistant Director of Tourism Prabhuswamy, Secretary of RLHP Prof. V.K. Jose, Joint Director of Agriculture Department K.H. Ravi, Senior Health Officer of MCC Dr. Venkatesh, Member of Youth Network Mahesh, RFO D.C. Radha and others were present.

Aahara Mela waste lingers at Maharaja's College Grounds!

Mysuru, Oct. 26 (BCT)- While the Mysuru District Minister proudly declared at a recent press meet that the Dasara Nada Habba from Oct. 3 to 12, 2024, was the grandest in 414 years, the District Administration and the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) have egregiously failed to address the aftermath of the Aahara Mela (Food Mela) at Maharaja's College Grounds.

Organised by the Dasara Food Festival Sub-Committee, the Aahara Mela has left a disturbing mess that tarnishes the spirit of the celebrations. More than 14 days after the festival, the grounds remain littered with food waste, pandal materials, floor carpets, firewood, rotting eatables and plastic refuse, showcasing a shocking disregard for cleanliness.

Every year, the MCC dedicates one or two days post-festival to clear the debris left by attendees, organisers, participants, and vendors. Yet this year, the Food Mela venue has been neglected, leaving it both unclean and odorous. This morning, a group of tree-planting volunteers arrived at the Maharaja's College Grounds, only to be greeted by the foul stench of rotting food.

"We came to plant over 100 saplings in this central location that desperately needs shade. Unfortunately, we were greeted by an overwhelming smell of decay. The area remains filthy. Where is the civic responsibility from our Ministers, District Administration and the MCC, who often preach about cleanliness and maintaining our surroundings?" questioned one of the volunteers.

CM's covert move made Yogeshwar join Congress

C.P. Yogeshwar with CM Siddaramaiah and Dy.CM D.K. Shivakumar.

Bengaluru, Oct. 26 (KMS & DM)- In a well-guarded political manoeuvre, Chief Minister Siddaramaiah has reportedly brought BJP leader C.P. Yogeshwar into Congress fold, positioning him as the party's candidate for Channapatna by-polls.

This election is shaping up to be a fierce contest between the ruling Congress and the Opposition BJP-JD(S) alliance.

Siddaramaiah initially operated in secrecy to recruit Yogeshwar, devising plans three months ago that even kept Deputy CM D.K. Shivakumar — also the KPCC President — and other senior party leaders in the dark.

Aware that Congress lacked a formidable candidate to challenge Union Minister and senior JD(S) leader H.D. Kumaraswamy (HDK), Siddaramaiah strategically opted for Yogeshwar, a five-time MLA from Channapatna, while keeping the operation under wraps.

Meanwhile, Shivakumar had been preparing to field his brother D.K. Suresh, who lost to Dr. C.N. Manjunath of BJP in 2024 Lok Sabha polls, from Bangalore Rural Constituency.

He had even toured the Constituency several times to gauge Suresh's chances of victory if he contested from Channapatna. However, CM's unexpected move to recruit Yogeshwar altered the landscape entirely.

With this manoeuvre, Siddaramaiah has effectively checkmated his deputy Shivakumar while also ensuring a strong candidate (Yogeshwar) to challenge HDK, who has been a significant rival for the CM since Congress regained power in the 2023 Assembly polls.

MP releases Addanda Cariappa's book 'Satyavanne Heluththene'

Mysuru, Oct. 26 (SBD&BS)- Mysuru-Kodagu MP Yaduveer Krishnadatta Chamaraja Wadiyar said, we have a collective responsibility of informing the next generation about the total truth related to the history.

Yaduveer Wadiyar was addressing the gathering after releasing the book Satyavanne Heluththene, a play written by former Rangayana Mysuru Director Addanda C. Cariappa, at Kiru Rangamandira in the premises of Kalamandira here on Friday evening.

"It is unfair to transfer only half truth to the next generation about the modern history of India. We hold the responsibility of moving ahead after understanding the complete truth," remarked Yaduveer Wadiyar.

We are aware how the individuals sharing common views have made attempts to pull the strings of several sectors like- history, theatre, filmdom, media among others. We have to remember R.C. Majumdar, who had been tasked with recording the comprehensive history of the country. However, a section of the society that was averse to his style of functioning, entrusted the job to others. We have been reading the history that was documented afterwards. But several astonishing facts related to the history have been emerging from the last 10 to 15 years, said Yaduveer Wadiyar.

*From left: Theatre person Anitha Cariappa, former Rangayana Mysuru Director Addanda C. Cariappa, theatre director Prakash Belavadi, Mysuru-Kodagu MP Yaduveer Krishnadatta Chamaraja Wadiyar and Dr. Chandrashekar of Aditya Adhikari Hospital releasing the book Satyavanne Heluththene at Kiru Rangamandira in Kalamandira premises in the city yesterday.

About 15 to 16 volumes of comprehensive history of modern India documented by Majumdar are available at Bharatiya Vidya Bhavan (BVB). As my grandfather shared a good rapport with BVB, I stumbled upon two volumes of BVB in the library. Not many have heard about these voluminous works, but those who have read Majumdar can pithily understand the prominent events related to the country. There is a detailed account of Freedom Movement of the country in the 15th and 16th volumes, that throws light on the roles played by tribals, military, doctors and the people belonging to several other classes, along with the prominent freedom fighters we know about, recalled Yaduveer Wadiyar.

Noted theatre and film director Prakash Belavadi said, attempts should be made to understand facts behind the historical truths.

"I accept those facts about which I have a understanding, but won't accept those I haven't studied about. It is better to air your opinion only after reading the book and watching the play. The book reveals profound matters and such risks are essential to explore the truth behind the facts," said Belavadi.

The play by the same name Satyavanne Heluththene will be staged at Kiru Rangamandira from Oct.28 to 31 at 6.30 pm.

Author of the book Addanda C. Cariappa, his wife and theatre person Anitha Cariappa and Dr. Chandrashekar of Aditya Adhikari Hospital were present.
